Diversity of people enrich country

FROM JOHN LINDSAY HAMILTON

TOWAMENDEN

Diversity of people who originally occupied this land as well as those born here from many other countries or are people of color or sexual minorities are a strength as a nation because we have no one else to turn to in or out of it.

We need to develop a country, culture, language, religion, and politics that will continue to facilitate understanding between people. It always has, especially in the wake of cultural immigration. So many people will denounce the changes that are taking place in our country as a result of this immigration. If we want to continue to exist as a country we have to embrace the changes that are taking place.

Caterpillar vs. butterfly

FROM DON LOUIS HAMILTON WINDSOYLE

I recently traveled to Washington, D.C., to tell Congress that I back this plan. I talked about the importance of recreation-based business to our local economy, and the economic opportunities that recreation presents to our communities.

Let’s act now to preserve these places for our kids and kids of the future. Support HB 999 as a good first step toward ensuring that the forests and recreation opportunities they hold for teaching the next generation about the environment.

We support the Northwest California Wilderness Act

FROM MONTY COLLARD, DIRECTOR

BAD 717 9003; CAMP TIRIYI

Why I support the Northwest California Wilderness Act

We support the Northwest California Wilderness Act (Wilderness Act 2019) because it will protect the land for future generations of citizens, and put the environment first before short-term economic gains. In other words, the land will be protected before any development takes place.

As a member of the Sierra Club, I have been a strong advocate for protecting the Northwest California Wilderness Act. I believe that this act is necessary to ensure that our natural resources are protected for future generations.

I also support the act because it will provide a secure future for the local communities, who rely on the wilderness for their livelihood.

In conclusion, I strongly support the Northwest California Wilderness Act because it will protect the land for future generations, put the environment first, and provide a secure future for the local communities.

We need to protect the Northwest California Wilderness Act.
